

Marshall Application Process: 2018- 2019

Program Goal

Marshall Scholarships support young Americans of high ability to study for a degree in the United Kingdom. A Marshall Scholarship is tenable for two academic years (i.e. 22 months), but may be extended to a third year by the Commission on a limited basis. Candidates are invited to indicate two preferred universities, but interest in studying at universities other than Oxford and Cambridge is particularly welcomed. Each year at least 40 students are selected as Marshall Scholars.

Working with the Office of Scholarships & Fellowships

The Office of Scholarships supports all of FIU's Marshall Applicants. Assistance is offered in the form of individual student meetings to discuss candidacy and project ideas, essay construction and revision assistance, and technical support. Material resources include Marshall writing guides, sample Marshall Essays, Marshall Reference letter guides, and interview preparation. Contact:

Evaluation and Selection of Fellows

Candidates may apply in one region only; either that in which they have their permanent home address or ordinary place of residence/employment, or that in which they are studying.

Short-listed candidates will be called for interviews in April. The final selection will be announced shortly after interview, and those nominated will be offered a scholarship in writing and will be asked to accept or decline this offer in writing within 10-12 days.

Crucial factors in the selection of Marshall Scholars include: A candidate's choice of course, choice of university, and academic and personal aptitude.
